This three-day transparent watercolor painting intensive was developed especially to address the most common problems for those learning to paint watercolor. Watercolor is uniquely beautiful and and also works differently than any other medium. .

On our first day, we'll discover the techniques required to create the loose flowing washes, subtle minglings and vibrant transparency that is the key to its appeal.

The second day focuses increasing your chance to create a successful watercolor painting - planning for success is imperative.

On the third day, we'll apply the techniques and composition ideas. You'll mostly work on your own with help and guidance from the instructor.
